DESCRIPTION

Want to touch one of the hottest jet fighters of all time? How about 12 of them? The Empire State Aerosciences Museum has it all, ranging from an F-14 Tomcat to an A-10 Warthog, and even two Soviet MiG's! Beyond these rare and amazing aircraft, the Museum chronicles the entire history of aviation. Museum guides can show you group everything from an 1896 glider that influenced the Wright brothers to a replica of Amelia Earhart's last airplane (built in Hollywood for a biopic of her life starring Diane Keaton). Exhibits also include a Pearl Harbor exhibit anchored by the 32-foot model aircraft carrier Akagi built for the 1970 film Tora! Tora! Tora!. And you will have the opportunity to see a fully-restored Huey helicopter, the icon of the Vietnam War.

Tours can be tailored to meet any interest and time frame. Simply tell us what you want, and we'll make sure it happens.

Want to do more than get up close to history? Experience the ups, downs, and barrel rolls of high performance flight with our Simulated Reality Vehicle (SRV). Up to fifteen people at a time can enjoy all the excitement of a high-performance air race.

After all this excitement, your group can relax in our classroom for coffee and refreshments. Once again, just tell us what you want, and we'll make it happen!

Every year the Air Museum hosts the Northeast Air Show at the Schenectady County Airport. Be sure to contact us for dates and information.
